CITY OF ITS OWN

Rapid Growth of Uniontown in Business and Population.

HAVE MANY NEW INDUSTRIES

Improvement and Opening of Streets Has Stimulated Building and Hundreds of New Houses Have Been Built and Are in Contemplation.

A visit to Uniontown in the west end of the city discloses the fact that the people residing there have a city of their own. The population is composed of Finns who are a frugal, industrious people, home builders and with progressive tendencies. From Second street to Smith's point is a population of about 2500 people. A large majority of them are fishermen, although many are engaged in other avocations. There are a dozen stores, nearly all established within the past two years. Almost every business is represented. Two grocery stores, A.
V. Allen and the Suomalainen Co-operative Company, one dry goods store, one clothing store and general merchandise stores. A saw mill, the As-toria Lumber Company, under the management of Carlton B. Allen, with a daily capacity of 10,000 to 15,000 feet of lumber, all of which meets with a ready sale, giving employment to 12 men.

There are two boat houses, one owned by Palo Bros., giving employment to five men, and one owned by Wilson Bros., giving employment to 12 men. Wilson Bros. have built 44 fishing boats since last fall and are building a gasoline boat for W. T.
Chatter of Seattle. The men employed are experienced boat builders and the work turned out is first-class and meets with a ready sale. Palo Bros. have built 23 new fishing boats this year. There are two blacksmith shops, four cigar stores and many other industries, but no saloons. The people of Uniontown are opposed to the existence of saloons and they took advantage of the local option law to close them up. They are determined to raise their children without having to counteract the degrading influence of saloons. They are unanimously opposed to gambling and appreciate the efforts of the county officials in closing it up in Astoria, and make no hesitancy in saying that they will remember their friends in the coming elections.

Hanulla Bros. have erected a four-story hotel and lodging house at a cost of $6000, facing the river on Taylor avenue and is modern in every detail. There are 50 rooms in the house, all furnished and occupied mostly by laboring men and fishermen. During the past five months, 33 new houses have been erected and fully as many more are in contemplation. Since last fall over 50 new buildings have been built in this end of the city. The people have a large hall, built by the temperance society; a large new church which is crowded every Sunday, and one of the finest school buildings in the city, situated on a high eminence overlooking the Columbia river. So fast has the population increased that the board of school directors are compelled to fit up two more rooms. They will also improve the grounds and make other needed improvements. The site for the school houses was donated to the district for the benefit of the residents of Uniontown by the Taylor heirs.

Many of the residents of Uniontown hold in grateful remembrance Col.
James Taylor whose kindness and liberality permitted them to acquire homes, the lots being sold at low prices and on easy terms, and many times rented to men for $1 a month. This name Uniontown was given to this section of the city by the plat of a town site by A. V. Allen joining the Taylor property on the east, but this name ought to be eliminated and the place designated as Taylor's Astoria as a perpetuation of the man who made it possible for the industrious people to acquire homes and make the west end one of the most prosperous sections of the city. If the newspapers of the city in referring to this locality will call it "Taylor's Astoria," will be known and designated as such by common consent.

riment. Mrs. Gratke was assisted in
